

5 Points Prep is pleased to offer a presentation on
Studies and Careers in the Healthcare Field
April 10th, Saturday, 1pm

High School Students...

Join our head science tutor, Ashlyn Czapiga, who will be attending Northwestern University this Fall as a graduate student in the Physician Assistant Program, for an enlightening presentation on the field of healthcare. Ashlyn is excited to share with you what she wished she'd known in high school regarding a career in healthcare.

You will:

- be introduced to numerous career opportunities available in the healthcare field that you can begin to explore
- get a sense if the healthcare field is right for you
- learn the necessary steps in preparation for a career in healthcare (it is never too early to start!)
- learn about application, schooling, and job-outlook details for several popular jobs in the healthcare field

*The presentation is free to high school students
